DETAILED ACTIONProvisional Obviousness Double Patenting Rejection

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-12 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-13 of copending Application No. US2007/0123735, US'735 (SN10/575147). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the instant claims are substantially overlapping in scope with the copending application. Illustratively, the instant claims are drawn to a catalyst composition comprising a bidentate ligand represented by formula 1, a monodentate ligand represented by formula 2, and a transition metal catalyst represented by formula 3, with the substituent definitions recited therein; while the copending application, US'735 is similarly drawn to a catalyst composition comprising a bidentate ligand represented by formula 1, a monodentate ligand represented by formula 2, and a transition metal catalyst represented by formula 3, with the substituent definitions recited therein. US`735 teaches in the 1st column page 1 [0004] that the examples of ligands in the catalyst may include, inter alia, phosphine, phosphine oxides and that in most oxo reactions, Rh metal is used as a catalyst and TPP derivatives are used as ligands. Thus the instant formula 2 is rendered obvious by US`735's teachings. Further, the instant claims 2-12 are verbatim recitations of claims 2-8 and 10-13 of the copending application US`735.

The examiner takes the stand that the recitation of mole concentrations and molar ratios in claim 9 are optimization parameters, which are within the norm of practice of one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention, which require no inordinate degree of experimentation.

Optimizing such processes is prima facie obvious because an ordinary artisan would be motivated to use known processes from the art to make the process more efficient or explore economical advantages over the other. Merely modifying the process conditions is not a patentable modification absent a showing of criticality. In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 105 U.S.P.Q. 233 (C.C.P.A. 1955).

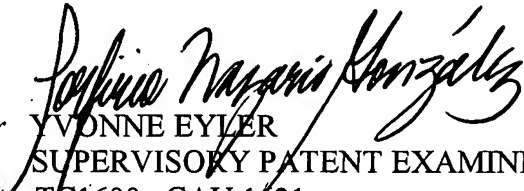

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

3. No claims are allowed.
